

Here come the Sting!

CHICAGO Sting, a club formed only recently, visit Loakes Park tomorrow night (Wednesday) for a friendly against Wycombe Wanderers as part of a build-up before their league campaign in America.

Sting, so called because they wear the badge of a Wasp on their shirts, are managed by former Manchester United full back Bill Faulkes, who spent 18 years at Old Trafford. Faulkes was managing Southern League Witney Town earlier this season but decided to take the American job after only a six week stay at Witney.

The club are over here on tour and are staying at Bisham Abbey until Friday when they return to America. So far they have played two friendlies and won them both. They beat Southport 2-1 and Stockport County 3-2. The Fourth Division sides fielded their first teams for the games.

The Chicago Sting players come from all parts of the globe and have several players with experience of English football. They are hoping to sign the services of George Best, the ex-Manchester United star who is Ian Storey-Moore. The latter will join the Sting after he finishes the season with Southern Leaguers Burton, one of the quarter-finalists in the F.A. Trophy.
